H. W. FULLER, G. P. A.

Washington, D. C.

E. F. Turner, of Alderson, was in town last Thursday.

Conductor Harvey Reece is now in charge of the work train on this division.

Mrs Wm Curry of Huntersville is very ill. Mrs S. H. Clark and Mr and Mrs R. W. Hill are with her.

J. D. Pullin is building a residence not far from Smith & Whiting's warehouse.

Calvin W. Price has gone to the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo.

Lucile, Dr McClintic's little daughter has been very sick but is now better.

Lanty Cole, of Browns Mountain, who has been at work in the Cherry River lumber camps, was in Marlinton last Thursday.

Harry Echols, the druggist, spent about a week moving his stock to new quarters in the Bank of Marlinton building.

Ed Scott, from Anthony's Creek, a veteran woodsmen, "has been visiting up" in Marlinton the past week or two.

Senator H. G. Davis and Col S. L. Reger were in Marlinton last Thursday a few hours. The senator left on the evening train for Charleston.

L. M. McClintic and Andrew Price attended the banquet at Charleston—tendered to Judge Jackson retiring judge of the District of West Virginia.

We are pleased to see our townsman, Forrest Kincaid, so far recovered from his hurt as to be on the streets again.

Grove & Perry have applied a coating of coal tar to the roofing of their large warehouse. Thousands of locusts have found it as bad as flies find sticking paper and have ceased to fly and sing in consequence.

Miss Georgia Ligon is in Richmond for the purpose of having her eyes examined by a specialist. She has been threatened with serious trouble with her eyes, and we understand that the specialist considers the danger grave. She was accompanied by her sister Miss Mabel and Dr McClintic.

Grass never was so good as it is now owing to the recent heavy rains. Pasture fields look like meadows and stock that came through the winter so very thin is looking fat and sleek. The grass this year does not seem "washy" as is usual in rainy seasons and it is supposed that stock will weigh heavy this fall.

Frank Dilley came near being crushed to death by a log at Young's sawmill near Edray last Thursday. His right side and arm were much bruised and a rib was broken. He was unconscious for some time but is now able to be about and was at Marlinton Saturday morning.

The snake crop is very light this year, snakes being scarcer than ever known before. We are now in the middle of the season and few have been seen and none have been reported as being killed. It was suggested by a medical man that the late damp spring gave the snakes bronchial trouble, they having a "multitude" of neck, and that it must have proved fatal judging from appearances. The failure of the snake crop is a serious blow to newspaper people, and were it not for the locusts we hardly know what we would do for news since Cahill's elephant is dead.

Reports concerning the damage done by the wind storm on Saturday, June 23rd, have been coming in until we have enough at least to make a local. Several large windows in the court-house were blown out; the railing at the east end of the bridge which has been leaning for some time was blown down; seven improved apple trees on Miss Emma Warwick's farm near Marlinton were turned out of root; fences in exposed positions suffered considerably and many a fine forest tree was leveled. We suppose that this wind and rain storm was a part of the atmospheric disturbance which caused such wide-spread suffering and ruin in the southern part of this state.

Dr O. J. Campbell, the dentist, will be at Marlinton on the 10th of July to stay one week, and at Academy July 15th to stay four days. All persons in need of this kind of work will do well to call this section recently, mostly from him.

Sterling Yeager and sister have returned from Romney.

The new "mam's" is progressing well towards completion. Pastor Nickell gives it daily and personal supervision with his coat off and sleeves unrolled.

James Duncan near West Union, a Union veteran, was in Marlinton Thursday in quest of a doctor for one of his sons who is threatened with fever.

The venerable Andrew Herold, of Frost, was in Marlinton Thursday the best time for four years. He expressed himself as surprised at the changes made and much pleased with Marlinton's prospects for expansion.

Accompanied by his doctor Mr Clark went to Richmond last Wednesday night and was operated upon by Dr George Ben Johnson, a noted surgeon. There were removed from him three limestone formations of the same size, each one being a round pebble of about an inch in diameter.

Proctor Bros are moving their Marlinton stock of goods to Durbin to be in readiness for the commercial boom that is heading that way so significantly at present. What is Marlinton's loss we sincerely hope will be Durbin's gain.

Asbury Dusard, of Arbovale, accompanied by his son L. J. and wife were in Marlinton one day last week. The young people took the train for Casa, their future home and would eat their dinner as Casa home keepers upon their arrival.

Miss Virginia Kincaid and brother John, of Bath Alum, hastened to Marlinton hardly expecting to find their brother Forrest alive, owing to alarming reports. It was their unspeakable pleasure on arriving to find him up and around. They set out for home on Friday morning.

The Geo. W. Hedrick Buggy Company, at Dayton, Va., made Pad Gay a present of the finest buggy ever seen in this section. The cushions and seat trimmings are of red plush and the axles are made in spring shape, something new and acceptable in buggy building.

About forty of his countrymen brought him to Marlinton where he was prepared for burial by undertaker C. A. Yeager. His remains were interred in the cemetery on Powell Hill Wednesday evening.

The accident seemed to engender considerable feeling on the part of the Italians, and one of them who has become well Americanized remarked that they were talking "ugly" and would sue the railroad company. The train crew are relieved from all blame, as the engineer had warned them to keep off the car.

Death of Col. B. F. Harlow.

Col. B. F. Harlow died unexpectedly at his home in Lewisburg Monday, June 23rd, in the 66th year of his age. He was a native of Albemarle County, Va.

At the age of 18 he came to Union, Monroe County, and became associate editor of Farmers' Friend. In 1855 he took charge of Greenbrier Era at Lewisburg. In 1858 he went to Memphis, Tenn., and held a position on the Daily Bulletin. In 1859 returned to Lewisburg and practiced law until 1861 when he volunteered in the Greenbrier Cavalry. In June 1866 he founded the Greenbrier Independent and conducted it with ability and success until 1887 when he retired from journalism and gave his attention to farming, official duties and politics, and became one of the more prominent citizens of Greenbrier County and State of West Virginia.

DAVIS.

(Camp No 1 on Beaver Creek)

Good day, Mr Editor, not seeing anything in your paper from this county I will try to give you the latest news.

We are having some ugly damp weather, not a very good time for the woods boys to make a 4th of July celebration.

Vernon Moore was in town last night. He has just got back and looks very sleepy.

Mr Martin is our foreman and is a fine man.

Henry McLoud files our saws and you can just bet they do good work.

Pat Berks cooks for us. He has our meals on time and in good shape.

Times are good here, lots of work and wages are good.

I am a Pocahontas woodsmen and would like to see some more of the boys coming along up the railroad, for I know most of them.

Elmer Fong will soon be home; he says to see his home folks, but I don't think that's his object.

Look out for Chas Nottingham on the 4th of July; he made a flying trip to Davis to the tailor shop.

L. C. & A. N.

BROWNS CREEK.

Hot and still heating and corn is growing fine.

J. W. Loury is stopping for the present at H. P. McGaughlin's.

W. H. Gross and A. B. McComb are going into the bee business on a large scale.

Miss Hattie Hannah, of Greenbrier, is visiting friends and relatives at Hinterside.

Mrs G. W. Ginger, of Hinterside, paid her parents, Mr and Mrs C. L. Moore, a visit last Sunday.

The funeral of Mrs Maggie Dilley's child will be preached at Mt. Tabor school house the 1st Sunday in July by Rev C. M. M. Fullz at 11 o'clock.

J. C. Gay, of Elk, was the guest of C. L. Moore one night last week and supplied himself with plenty of alum water on his return home.

A good many cattle have died in this section recently, mostly from black-leg.

A song will outline all sermons in memory.—H. Giles.

Sorrow is only one of the lower notes in the oratorio of our blessings.—A. J. Gordon.

Heaven sends us misfortunes as a moral tonic.—Lady Blessington.

JUMBO.

S. H. CLARK IN HOSPITAL

Operated upon for Stone in the Bladder.

S. H. Clark, of the Levels, who is probably the wealthiest citizen of this county, is in a hospital at Richmond recovering from the effects of a severe operation. He is 72 years old, and has been much troubled of late years by his complaint. In the last few weeks his condition became critical, and Dr McDaniel, his physician, diagnosed the trouble to be stone of the bladder.

Accompanied by his doctor Mr Clark went to Richmond last Wednesday night and was operated upon by Dr George Ben Johnson, a noted surgeon. There were removed from him three limestone formations of the same size, each one being a round pebble of about an inch in diameter.

Mr Clark rallied from the operation, and everything is favorable to his speedy recovery.

An Italian Killed.

While shifting cars at Edray siding last Wednesday morning an Italian laborer, Vincenzo Angilette, was run over and instantly killed.

Anthony Aples has a large camp of Italian laborers loading ballast, and while waiting to have some flat cars placed so that they could be conveniently loaded, some twenty of them climbed upon a car that had been left on the main track. The train crew "kicked off" several cars from the side track which came down the track at a high rate of speed. There was a brakeman on them who applied the brakes but the cars had gained enough momentum to give the car which the Italians were on a heavy jar. All who were standing up received a heavy fall, and the one sitting on the end fell off and was run over, the wheels passing over his chest. He was instantly killed but not badly mangled, the only cut being on his arm.

About forty of his countrymen brought him to Marlinton where he was prepared for burial by undertaker C. A. Yeager. His remains were interred in the cemetery on Powell Hill Wednesday evening.

The accident seemed to engender considerable feeling on the part of the Italians, and one of them who has become well Americanized remarked that they were talking "ugly" and would sue the railroad company.

On another occasion he went to watch the salt lick where the parsonage stands now. It was very dark but he soon made out the shadowy outlines of a deer sucking up the salty water. He fired and the deer fell. Taking off his knife he jumped astride of the deer and plunged the knife into its neck. This seemed to put new life in the animal, for it jumped up and threw the hunter down the hill and ran away with the knife sticking in the wound. The next morning the deer was found dead in a short distance and the knife where it had fallen on the ground.

Jesse Nottingham was in town this week looking after his interests.

Mrs J. D. Wilmoth paid her parents a short visit this week.

William Collins, Sr., was in town on business the 27th.

C. L. Curtis is doing well in the blacksmith business here: he has more work than he can do.

Wade Kelley is working under Curtis: he says he has found the right place.

Pitts & Hawkins are getting along well with the stone for the bridge below Durbin considering the wet weather. The grade is about ready for the ties and everybody is anxious for the railroad to get to Durbin.
